Introduction

Describe background and significance of the work/research project, objective and scope of the paper and its relevance to the respective themes of the relevant Unisearch Journal volume.

Main Body Text

The main body text should contain project outline, including literature review, materials and methods. Authors are free to structure as appropriate, and to include figures and tables as relevant.

Table 1 Provide a succinct but descriptive title to describe the contents of the table

Source: Surname /Institutional affiliations (Year)

(Compiled from variety of sources)

Source: Surname/Institutional affiliation (Year of publication)

For figures compiled from several sources, it may be necessary for the author to identify and cite the original copyright holder before it can be reproduced in UJ. The source should also be included in the bibliography.

The author should discuss the main findings, their significance (e.g. statistically), how they relate to previous studies, and how they support the study's hypotheses.

Conclusions and Recommendations

The conclusion summarizes the implications of the study findings, draws lessons and recommendations, states the limits and contribution of the study to the body of knowledge, and suggests areas for future study.

Acknowledgements

This section should specify that the article is part of a research project "Project Name" and identify the source of research funding.
